

Love is in the air and things are heating up in San Antonio!

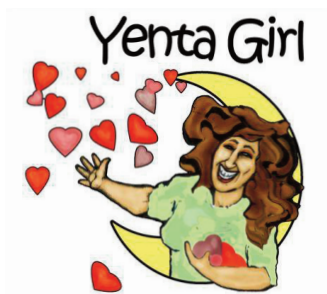

We're thrilled to announce the partnership between veteran matchmaker Nina Friedman and Chris Feliciano, owner of Scenergy Dating.

No one in San Antonio ever needs to be alone again.

If you want love, Nina and Chris will help you find “the one.” The two are combining forces and will be hosting mixers and speed dating events, and Nina will be matchmaking one-on-one. They will take all the guess work out of dating. If you need any relationship advice or coaching — just call.

Nina has been a professional matchmaker for more than 20 years. She has helped dozens of people find their soul mate, and she's responsible for nine marriages — not including her own. She has been written about in publications such as PEOPLE magazine, The Houston Press, the Houston Chronicle and has appeared on Fox News, Great Day Houston, Tube Talk with Lara Bell and numerous radio shows.

Chris created Scenergy Dating, LLC as a company that combines both hosted events for singles, as well as free online dating from the comfort of your fingertips. www.scenergy-dating.com is a great option for the busy professional, single parent, and those that would like to develop quality communication before meeting in person.

The website itself is different from conventional dating sites because it includes an interactive members only forum, a dating safety tool for your protection, and dynamic logos that describe a member in a snapshot.
